

Iowa Community Action Association is hosting two Four Cornerstones of Financial Literacy Follow-up Trainings in Iowa.

Please RSVP by Friday, August 6th participant names, organization, email address and which training they will attend to Tiffany Keimig (tmkeimig@iowacaa.com or 515-244-0320). Each training can have up to 40 participants.

This is a one-day workshop presented by Darryl Dahlheimer, LICSW and Certified Consumer Credit Counselor. This training will follow-up the full train-the-trainer program led in 2009.

The training will focus on three follow-up areas to further build expertise and comfort delivering financial literacy classes and one-to-one financial coaching with clients.

- 1) Review of experiential exercises and learning circle methods (more practice and new adaptations)
- 2) Topical updates on consumer financial issues (new CARD Act regulations, new consumer scams to avoid, recession realities)
- 3) Discussion of best practices (what has worked well, what are struggles) and adaptations of curriculum to different client populations

Who Should Attend

This training is designed for front-line workers in anti-poverty programs and financial literacy counselors in order to help them gain technical financial knowledge and comfort to be able to do direct financial coaching with clients and to teach financial literacy classes within their program. The training is open to anyone (even those who have not taken the original Four Cornerstones of Financial Literacy training).

Cost

Training is $40 for ICAA Members ($50 after July 23rd) and $75 for nonmembers ($85 after July 23rd) and includes lunch. Space is limited. Registrations will be accepted on a first come/first served basis. Cancellations made after August 11th will be refunded minus $25. BRING: Participants must bring the Four Cornerstones of Financial Literacy Curriculum (plus the Leader's Guide).
